

The 2012 CFBC Symposium: “Avoiding anguish and accelerating achievements: Getting your biological control to market”

The Canadian Forum for Biological Control (CFBC) held a symposium in conjunction with the June meeting of the Canadian Phytopathological Society meeting in Niagar Falls, Ontario.

The three presentations featured in this symposium are now available at the bottom of this page:

- Field Research Permits: the First Step in the Regulatory Process - Krista Anderson, Bayer Crop Science
- Value Assessment of Biopesticides: Use History and Consideration of Benefits - Lilian de Luna, Health Canada-PMRA
- Economics of Biopesticides: Getting Rich or Going Broke - Tobias Längle, AAFC